

PICK UP ON THE PORTABLE BOOM.

The TeleVideo® Portable Computer equips the professional who's going places.

Because our Integrated Systems Design produces a full-function portable that is truly networkable. As an additional mobile workstation at the office. As a powerful communications tool away from the office. Integrated Systems Design makes the TeleVideo Portable Computer fully compatible with our desktop computers.

The TeleVideo Portable has a full 9" yellow phosphor screen and a double-sided double-density 5¼" floppy drive. The ergonomically designed keyboard includes a ten-key accounting pad not normally available in a portable.

The TeleVideo Portable comes complete with CP/M® operating system, spreadsheets, word processing and graphics software. At a suggested retail of just $1,699, it adds portable power at a very affordable price.

The power of the portable in network environments. A great way to get you in on the boom.
